

THE COMPANION TO THE BOOK

The Calm Room Workbook

Every prompt from The Calm Room Method, laid out with room to answer. One room at a time: photograph it, mark what stays, plan what moves. Designed to be written in, not preserved.

Forty pages · Letter · print single-sided and keep it in a folder

One room. Four pages. No shopping.

The method in the book is a sequence: notice, keep, move, plan. Each room here gets one page for each step, in that order, and the order is the point.

NOTICE

A photograph from the doorway, before tidying. Write down the first three things you see. Those are the things everyone else sees too.

KEEP

What earns its place. Used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. This list is usually shorter than expected and that is fine.

MOVE

Nothing is thrown away in this workbook. Things are moved: to the room they belong in, to dated storage, or out of the house. Dated storage that stays boxed for six months answers its own question.

PLAN

Only after the first three pages: what the room needs that it does not have. Storage that becomes a ritual, light, one material. Most rooms need less than one thing.

Do one room a week. Eight weeks is a whole home.

A WORKED EXAMPLE

A living room, before.

From the doorway: a sofa under a window, a coffee table with a stack of magazines and three remotes, a bookcase with books lying on top of books, a chair holding a blanket and two bags, cables under the television.

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

1 · The cables. 2 · The chair that is not a chair any more. 3 · The top of the bookcase.

WHAT STAYS

Sofa, lamp, the low table, the bookcase and the books that fit on it upright, one throw, the plant, the framed print above the sofa. The remote for the television.

THE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

The coffee table.

A WORKED EXAMPLE

A living room, after.

WHAT MOVES

To another room: the bags (entry), the second blanket (bedroom), two remotes for devices nobody uses (drawer in the workspace). To storage, dated: the magazines older than this month, in one box, dated today. Out: the books lying on top, offered to friends first.

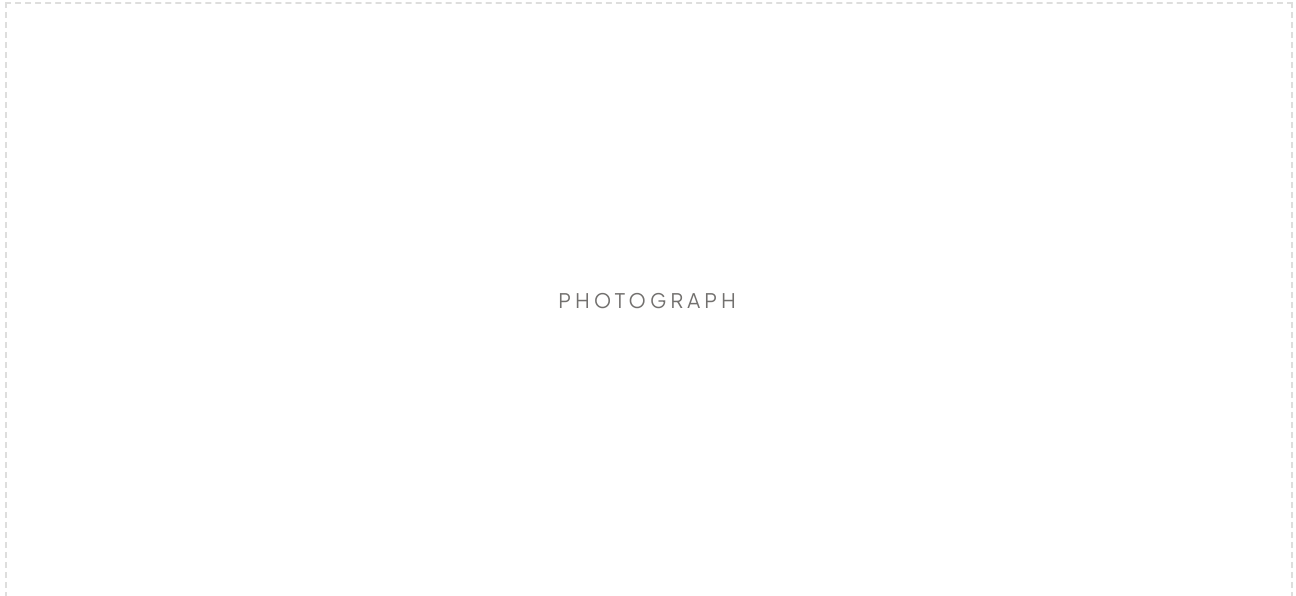

THE PLAN

Storage that becomes a ritual: a shallow basket under the low table for the one remote and the current magazine; it is emptied every Sunday. Light: the lamp moves to the reading end and goes on at dusk instead of the ceiling light. Palette and material: nothing new; the throw is oatmeal and the room already has enough. Done when: the coffee table is empty at the end of the day without anyone having to try.

Total spend: nothing. Total time: an afternoon, and ten minutes a week.

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

What moves.

Three columns. Nothing is thrown away on this page; it is only moved, and where to.

[illegible]

Anything in the middle column that is still boxed in six months belongs in the third.

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

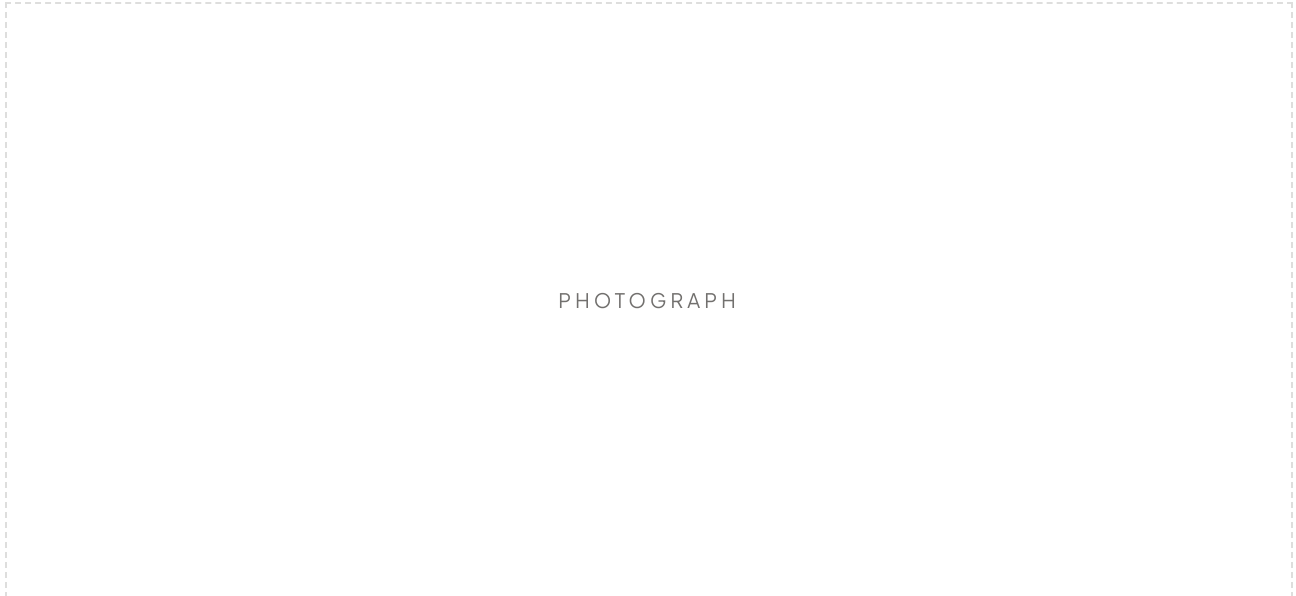

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

What moves.

Three columns. Nothing is thrown away on this page; it is only moved, and where to.

Anything in the middle column that is still boxed in six months belongs in the third.

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

OUT OF THE HOUSE

INTERIORCLEANSE · 15

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

OUT OF THE HOUSE

INTERIORCLEANSE · 19

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

OUT OF THE HOUSE

INTERIORCLEANSE • 23

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

What moves.

Three columns. Nothing is thrown away on this page; it is only moved, and where to.

Anything in the middle column that is still boxed in six months belongs in the third.

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

What moves.

Three columns. Nothing is thrown away on this page; it is only moved, and where to.

Anything in the middle column that is still boxed in six months belongs in the third.

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

DONE WHEN

Photograph it. Then look.

Take one photograph from the doorway, at eye level, without tidying first. Tape it here or describe it. The camera sees what the eye has learned to skip.

PHOTOGRAPH

THE FIRST THREE THINGS I NOTICE

What stays.

List what earns its place: used weekly, loved, or doing a job nothing else does. Be slow with this list and strict with the next.

THE ONE SURFACE THAT STAYS EMPTY

OUT OF THE HOUSE

INTERIORCLEANSE • 35

The plan.

Now, and only now, what the room needs that it does not have. Most rooms need less than one thing.

STORAGE THAT BECOMES A RITUAL

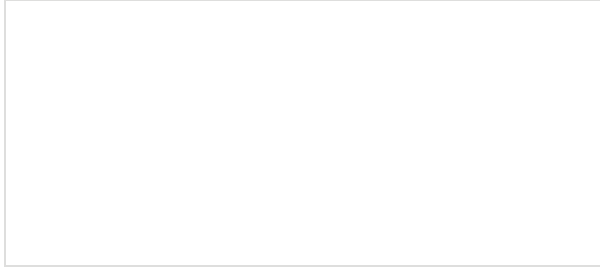

LIGHT: MORNING, EVENING

PALETTE AND ONE MATERIAL TO ADD

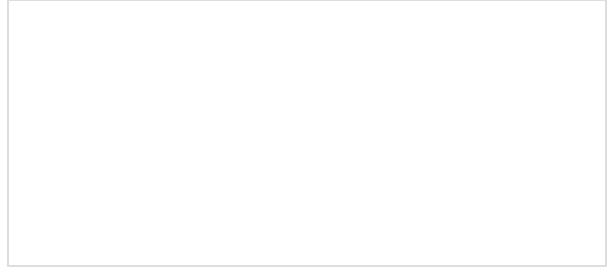

DONE WHEN

Palette.

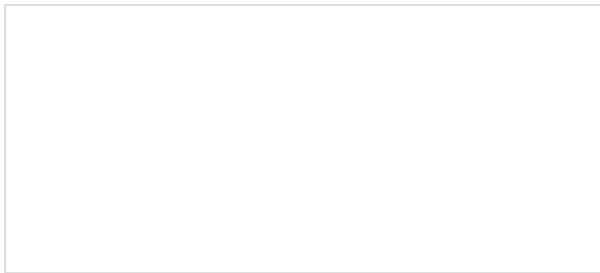

Three neutrals and one accent, chosen once and carried from room to room. Paint a swatch of each here, or tape a sample.

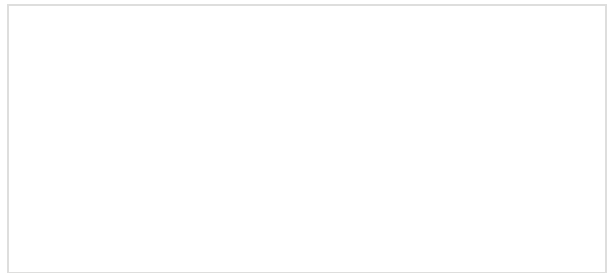

Ground (walls, large soft things)

Second neutral (wood, stone, baskets)

Third neutral (metal, glass, dark accents)

The one accent (a colour that appears in every room, small)

Materials.

Rooms feel calm when a few materials repeat. List the ones you already own, then the one you would add.

MATERIAL	WHERE IT ALREADY APPEARS	WHERE IT COULD
Wood
Linen or cotton
Stone or ceramic
Metal
Glass
Wool

KEEPING IT

A maintenance rhythm.

Set it once. Revisit it every quarter, on a date you write here now.

DAILY · UNDER TEN MINUTES

WEEKLY · ONE ROOM RESET

MONTHLY · THE FULL RESET

QUARTERLY · THIS WORKBOOK, AGAIN, ONE ROOM

NEXT REVIEW DATE

A well-kept home is the foundation of a well-kept life.

The Calm Room Workbook accompanies The Calm Room Method, available in paperback and on Kindle. More from the library at interiorcleanse.com.